

CLAIMS:

What I claim my invention is:

1. An air cushion levitation apparatus that lifts medical patients on a cushion of air so that they can be transferred from a bed to a gurney to an examination table in total comfort.
2. An air cushion levitation apparatus that lifts medical patients on a cushion of air so that their soiled bed linen can be removed and replaced while the patient is in total comfort.
3. An air cushion levitation apparatus that lifts medical patients on a cushion of air so that hospital attendants or home care givers do not experience back injuries when attempting to move patients.

Edward Federig 5/2/2001